

The Dorothy Jamar Memorial Endowed Scholarship

Mrs. Dorothy Jamar, born May 11, 1911, began teaching composition and literature at Wayland Baptist College in 1959. In literary circles, she frequently lectured to women's clubs. She was active at First Baptist Church where she taught an adult Sunday school class and sang in the church choir. She sponsored the student literacy magazine, Portals, and after her retirement edited Hale County History. She expected the best from her students in both scholarship and behavior and practiced what she taught. She was a faithful friend and supporter of Wayland Baptist University until her death in 1998.
