The Norman and Louise Wright Endowed Scholarship
In Memory of Julianne Wright

The Norman and Louise Wright Endowed Scholarship is given by their children to honor the legacy of Christian faith and service exemplified by their parents—longtime member of First Baptist Church of Plainview. It is also given in memory of their granddaughter, Julianne Wright.

A man who touched many by the way he lived his life, Norman was a deacon, Sunday school teacher, and former Wayland student and trustee. He was involved in banking and insurance.

Louise served the church faithfully as a Sunday school teacher, mentor, committee member, literacy instructor, and Sanctuary choir member.

Norman was honored as Man of the Year in 1978 and Louise Woman of the Year in 1991 by the Plainview chamber of Commerce for community service.

Julianne Wright, daughter of Wayland graduates Walter and Sharon Wright, was a gifted vocalist with aspirations to be a professional classical singer. A graduate of Plainview High School, Julianne began her formal music training at age six with Wayland instructors. She died December 13, 2006, on the eve of her graduation from Arizona State University.

The Wright’s children are Walter Wright and Dr. David Wright of Plainview, Susan Jameson of Albuquerque, N.M, and John Wright of Fort Worth. They also have eleven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.
