

Course To Course Navigation

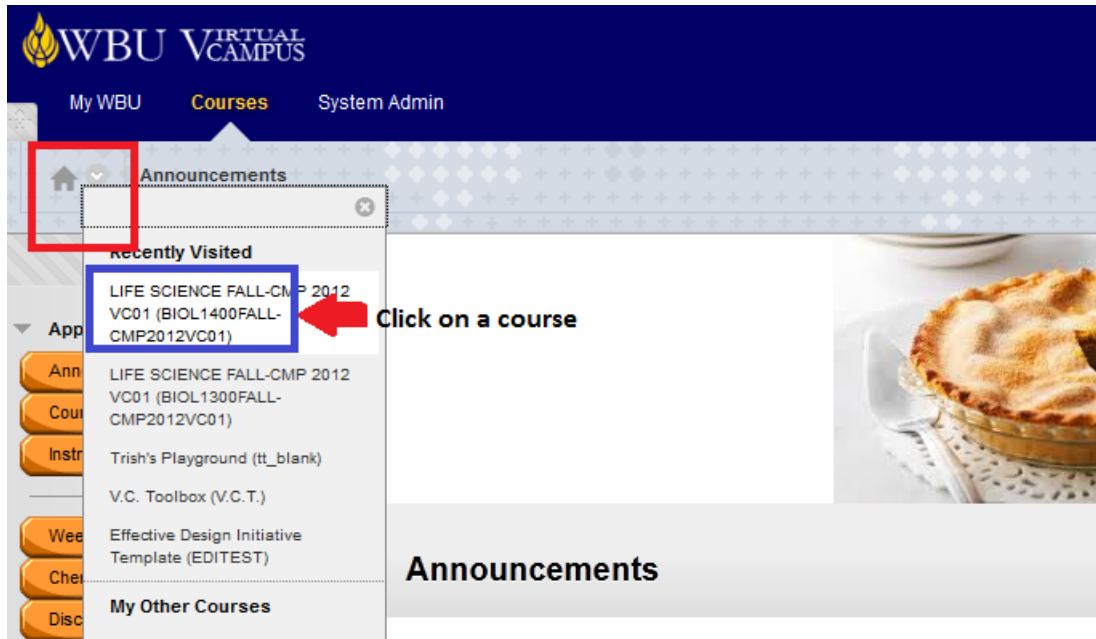

Our current Blackboard release allows faculty to move from one course to another without leaving their current course display. This means that while working in one location such as Announcements, Grade Center, or the Discussion Board of Course A, faculty can in just a few clicks move directly to the same location in Course B.

Follow these step by step instructions to move from course to course:

Navigate to one of your courses. In the upper left corner find the home button (shaped like a house). It has a small down arrow next to it.

Click on the small arrow next to the home button and a menu will appear that contains your courses. The five most recent ones you visited are at the top. Select one of those courses.

Blackboard will open the selected course to the same location (Announcement to Announcement; Grade Center to Grade Center, Discussion board to Discussion board, etc.) in the new course.
